It seems like only yesterday that you walked into the hallways of Malcolm X Shabazz High School, unaware that your first day of high school would become the beginning of a very important chapter in a book of your very own life story. This book was no ordinary one, for it was "Shielded in Gold"; representing just how bright and exciting your future here at Shabazz would be. This book held stories of your past history, your fears, and your values, but more importantly included all of your big dreams for a brighter tomorrow.

As you transitioned from freshmen to seniors, you validated your growth and maturity levels by preparing for the HSPA, spending late nights cramming for exams, participating in extra-curricular activities, and considering your career paths. Although some of the pages of your life stories were frazzled and worn, you now recognize that those were the times you were faced with challenges in dealing with school and personal life issues. Those stages were only temporary, and you were always reminded that you were "Shielded in Gold". You also noticed that most of the chapters gleamed with brightness and were filled with stories of good times. Those were the times you made and embraced new friendships and met great teachers, administrators and staff.

It's apparent that the Bulldog Spirit has been felt throughout your hallways, your classrooms, your classmates and your faculty. There is a true sense of pride to be part of Malcolm X Shabazz High School that extends beyond the school walls, evidenced by the feelings of those who have graduated before you. Many of your parents and siblings are alumni and continue to support the mission and expectations of the students. And just as they have, always remember to carry with you the teachings and knowledge you have acquired from your beloved Alma Mater.

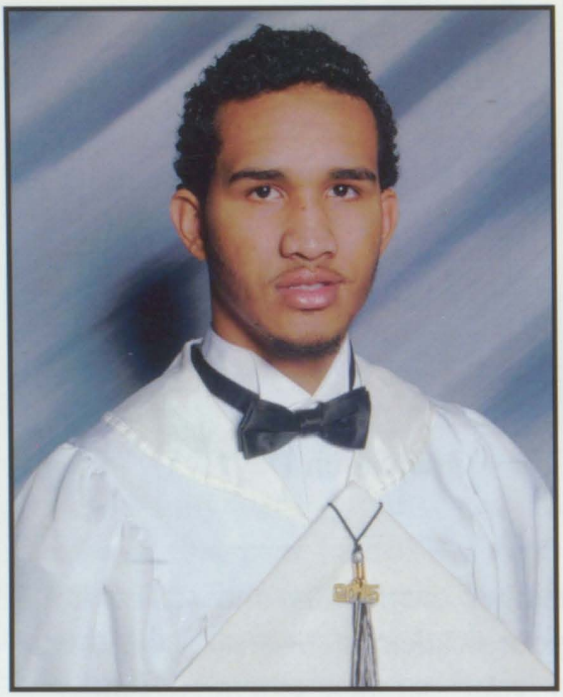

Class of 2015

And now comes the day you have been longing for – Graduation Day!

On your journey to your chosen careers, remember the faculty and staff who provided you with life skills and encouraged your academic success. Take this moment to express your true appreciation to your parents, extended family members, mentors and friends who believed in and supported you over the years. For all of this, remain forever thankful. Continue to add chapters of your accomplishments and life lessons into your Book of Life as you move onto adulthood. Just remember that it will always remain "Shielded in Gold".

Congratulations Graduates!

Graduating With Bulldog Pride

Bulldog Pride

We must protect this house

"Bulldog Pride is a feeling we have just knowing that we are a part of something special. Being a Bulldog is something I worship. We have great students and great staff, and they are all great people. I have attended Shabazz since freshman year and I love it. The colors, the sports teams, and the coaches are great. Another thing that I love is the mascot. The mascot is very unique and everybody loves it – including me. At times, I wish I didn't have to graduate because I will miss this school so much. I wish I could have been a part of the football team this year because the Bulldog Pride was stronger than ever when the team won the state championship. I look at everyone in this school as my brothers and sisters because we are all a part of the Bulldog Pride as one big family. Once again, being a Bulldog is great and I love it and I will not trade it for anything!"

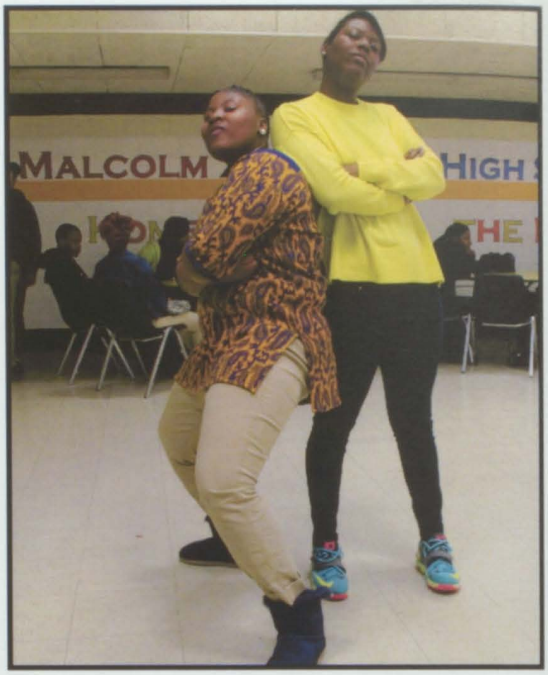

Deondre Battle

"Bulldog Pride is being proud to be a Shabazz High School student. Memories of Bulldog Pride is playing on the basketball team with my brothers and, regardless if we lost or not, we stuck together and we never quit on each other. Bulldog Pride is being proud and embracing where you come from. Having Bulldog Pride means respecting the school, the school staff, and your peers. Bulldogs are strong so Bulldog Pride means: Stay strong and never settle for anything less than greatness. Be proud and take pride in yourself and your abilities."

Bulldog Life

Bulldog Pride

"September 7, 2011 is when I entered, as a freshman, Malcolm X Shabazz High School – home of the Bulldogs. I didn't know what to expect, but I knew that my three best friends and I were ready for the unexpected. Every morning, Principal Mills and Mr. White would teach us the Bulldog anthem and what it means to bleed Black and Gold. I honestly never understood the importance of having school pride during those first few years.

As a senior, I now realize how much I will miss being a Bulldog and how much pride I have for it. Shabazz taught me a lot. I learned that no matter our differences, as a Team we can make things happen. The football team won a state championship by working together. Outsiders are unaware of our struggles and the fun we have had at Shabazz. We are a big family who at times has disagreements, but we always find ways to come back around and remain loyal to one another. As we graduate and enter the real world, I wish my fellow graduates all the best!"

"Bulldog Pride is treating your school with respect and feeling happy to just being there. Bulldog Pride is treating your fellow classmates as family. There are many great and easy ways to show Bulldog Pride. An important part of displaying Bulldog Pride is showing your school respect. Respecting your school means that you obey all of the school rules. You exhibit pride when you show up to class on time and treat your teachers with respect. You treat the school as if it is your home by keeping it neat and by cleaning up after yourself. You show pride when you show up in your school uniform, ready to learn.

Showing pride is treating others in your school with respect. If you are happy to attend this school, you should also be happy to see your fellow classmates. Each student contributes to the Bulldog team. Being a Bulldog means being a part of a family. Family members are helpful and kind one another. We resolve our issues by working it out. We show pride by respecting the rules and each other."

Bulldog Pride

"Bulldog Pride is wearing school colors to prep rallies, clapping and screaming for your school in support of its sports teams. Sports are a big part of high schools and for students to support. It shows a lot about the pride that they have in their schools.

Bulldog Pride is definitely coming to the football games, basketball games, and track meets. These are sports that Shabazz is extremely serious about, especially basketball. Shabazz has been one of the top schools in girls' basketball for approximately the last 15 years. To be a part of that wonderful program was an honor and a dream.

Bulldog Pride is watching your team lose and showing up to the next game ready to support our team by cheering even louder. When we competed at the Prudential Center and lost horribly, we still played in front of a full gym in the state's championship. Bulldog Pride is supporting our school not only when we are performing at our best, but also when we perform at our worse. Bulldog Pride is with us always."

Tania Williams

"Embracing Bulldog Pride is a necessity for being a part of Malcolm X Shabazz High School. It's the essential part of showing your love for the school, and publicly announcing it to everyone. I was given not only the opportunity, but privilege, of attending this great school. Many opportunities I didn't think existed are here at Shabazz. I was able to travel to the Poconos to help a scientist from the University of Tennessee - an opportunity no other school in my state offers. I was also honored with many leadership positions and, in all honesty, I would not be where I am today without this school. As a future alumnus, I am proud to say that I attend Malcolm X Shabazz High School, and I will forever bleed Black and Gold. Shabazz is a part of my roots and this is my legacy. Shabazz is my home-away-from-home and I intend on coming back home often to improve it - inside out."

Senior Class Adviser

Each year I have watched you, the class of 2015 exhibit "bulldog pride". It is important that you use this same enthusiasm to continue to build your future and claim your rightful place in society. The staff at Malcolm X Shabazz High School has provided you with valuable skills, knowledge, encouragement and opportunities to be successful. Along your journey to continued success, you will experience some obstacles and bumps in the road. It is important for you to stay focused and use all of the problem solving and critical thinking skills that you have acquired throughout your time here at MXS to prove to yourselves that you will not be defeated. I believe in you and look forward to your success. Always remember that "you matter".

Congratulations class of 2015,

Ms. Hedgepath-White

Principals Message

Can you believe it? Four years ago, most of you walked the halls of Shabazz high school nervous and afraid. You were freshmen, the puppies of the school. Now, four years later, you have grown to be bulldogs.

It has been a long four years and short four years. Long because of all the adversity we have faced while transforming Shabazz from an institution crumbling to a school on the rise to greatness. Short because of the lifelong friendships, the lasting memories, and the truly interesting and amazing things you have learned. Good or bad, long or short, you will always remember this place and I will never forget the time that we have shared.

You may not understand the significant of this triumph today, however as you embark on your next journey you will begin to realize that you possess something that most people lack. What you have money cannot buy it. It's called "Drive" and it cannot be purchased. You will meet people your age that seem smarter than you. You will meet people your age whose parents are wealthy and provide their children with the best of everything. However, you will still be more successful because they will not out work you!

They will not prepare the way you will! They will not look adversity in the face and say, I WILL NOT LOSE! It has been said that "The person who scored well on an SAT will not necessarily be the best doctor or the best lawyer or the best businessman. These tests do not measure character, leadership, creativity, or perseverance". This is why some people with mediocre talent, but great inner drive, go so much further than people with superior talent.

I am extremely proud of each and every one of you. Always remember, that you represent the excellence that Malcolm X Shabazz fought for and you are responsible for protecting the "House" that "WE" have built. Let the blood that flows through your veins be Black and Gold and your hearts, bodies, and minds be filled with bulldog soul.

Congratulations class of 2015,

Principal Mills
